Practical Information

Summer (June-September): Peak season with warm weather (25-28°C), perfect for beach activities and water sports. Long daylight hours but expect large crowds and higher prices.

Spring (April-May): Mild temperatures (15-22°C), garden blooms, fewer tourists. Excellent for botanical garden exploration and outdoor activities.

Autumn (September-October): Pleasant weather (18-24°C), calmer seas, cultural events. Golden light ideal for photography and comfortable walking tours.

Winter (November-March): Cool temperatures (8-15°C), occasional rain, significantly fewer tourists. Cultural events and New Year celebrations provide unique experiences despite weather.

Getting to Batumi: Batumi International Airport (BUS) has flights from Istanbul, UAE, and European cities. Direct buses from Tbilisi (5-6 hours) via marshrutka (shared minibus) or private shuttles. Train connections available from Tbilisi with scenic mountain passages.

Local Transportation: Minibuses (marshrutka) are cheap and frequent, covering city and surrounding areas. Taxis readily available—use official yellow cabs or ride-sharing apps. Ali Pasha Mosque at Sunset: Golden hour (6-7 PM) provides stunning light on blue tilework. Position on the boulevard opposite for wide-angle architectural shots. Afternoon light creates dramatic shadows highlighting architectural details.

Batumi Boulevard Promenade: Early morning (6-8 AM) captures empty streets with soft golden light. Sculptures and landscaping stand out without crowds. Evening offers warm tungsten light ideal for romantic atmospheric shots.

Old Town Architecture: Midday (11 AM-1 PM) harsh light emphasizes textures and colors of Victorian buildings. Overcast days work well for uniform lighting of facade details. Narrow alleys create interesting shadow patterns and compositional depth.

Sarpi River Confluence: Golden hour captures dramatic contrast between river and sea. Sunset varies by season; on 21 June 2026 it is approximately 20:51, so check the date before planning photography. Sunrise creates silhouettes of trees against brightening sky.

Black Sea Coastline from Heights: Early morning mist creates atmospheric seascapes. Mid-afternoon provides clear blue water and sky. Sunset offers warm colors reflecting off water surfaces.

Beach & Marine Life: Water activities provide dynamic action shots. Early morning calm waters best for reflections. Sunset swimmers create silhouettes against golden water.

Voltage & Frequency: Georgia uses 220V AC electricity at 50Hz frequency.

Plug Types: Standard European two-round-pin plugs (Type C) are universal. Some older buildings may have older Soviet-style outlets. Type F (Schuko) two-round-pin grounded plugs common in modern installations.

Adapters & Converters: Check each device’s input rating: dual-voltage equipment needs only a suitable plug adapter; incompatible single-voltage equipment requires conversion. UK and Australia plugs require adapters. Most hotels provide adapter loans at reception. Modern electronics (phones, tablets, laptops) often have 100-240V universal chargers requiring only plug adapters.

Power Considerations: Power outages are rare in Batumi but occasional in remote areas. Carry portable chargers for extended travel. Hotels and cafes offer charging facilities. Electricity is reliable in established tourist areas.

Must-Try Dishes:

- Khachapuri: Cheese-filled bread, most iconic Georgian dish. Adjarian version features butter and egg on top. Soft yet crispy exterior, melted cheese interior—irresistible.
- Khinkali: Meat dumplings with broth inside, eaten by hand lifting from top knot. Each contains perfect balance of spiced meat and savory juice.
- Pkhali: Vegetable pâté with ground walnut sauce. Spinach, beet, or eggplant versions offer rich, earthy flavors.
- Georgian Wine: Local varieties like Saperavi and Mtsvane represent world-class quality at exceptional prices. Wine drinking is cultural experience.
- Fresh Black Sea Fish: Grilled sturgeon, anchovy, and mullet prepared simply to highlight fresh flavors. Seaside restaurants excel at seafood preparation.
- Lula Kebab: Ground meat kebab with herbs and spices. Cooked on skewers, served with lavash bread and vegetables.

Dining Tips: Georgian restaurants are family-oriented and welcoming to tourists. Lunch (1-3 PM) offers best prices and crowds. Dinner (7-10 PM) is social occasion with slower service. Tipping 10% is appreciated but not mandatory. Fresh produce markets offer incredible variety at low prices for self-catering.

Dietary Considerations: Georgian cuisine features abundant vegetables, legumes, and meats. Vegetarian options available but less prominent. Seafood readily available coastal Batumi. Restaurants accommodate dietary requests with advance notice.
